

A JOURNEYS END

October 27, 2004

After the visit to the Winslow Indian, we proceeded to Camp Verde, AZ for a few days. We then moved to Prescott, AZ for a nice visit with our friends, the Dotsons. We left Prescott in a driving rainstorm and headed to Casa Grande, AZ where we spent a few days in warmer weather.

Planning to visit our friends, the Swarners, in Sierra Vista, AZ, we called to find out that they would be gone during the time we would be there. We had to revise our schedule and decided to be home on Fri. the 29th of Oct.

One of our last campgrounds was the Western Horizon, Colorado River Oasis, and our home park in the system. This time of the year is a nice time to have a site adjacent to the river, as you can see.

It is beginning to cloud up today, as there is a big storm front about to hit the California coast. By Friday, the storm should have passed and we will be dry when we get home.

This should bring you up to date and as you can see, the end of the trip journals. I thank you all for receiving all of these and hope you enjoyed reading them as much as I enjoyed writing them.

Until next year,

Dave & Bonnie
