

CAPITAL CITY, WHITEHORSE, YT

It is a long day's drive from Dawson City to Whitehorse. Most of the population of the Yukon lives in Whitehorse. At their airport is this largest weathervane in the world. It is so perfectly balanced a slight shove will turn it. A 3 mile an hour wind will point it in the direction of the wind!

Nearby is a display of an Army land train operated during the Alaska Highway construction era. The train tires were huge, but were not present on all the displayed cars behind it.

Just before reaching the Alaska Highway, there is this store that is the home of the largest cinnamon buns in the world! We all ate on this one for 3 days!

Dawson City was the original capital of the Yukon Territory until it was decided to create a new one farther inland. There were only 400 men sent down to create the new capital of Whitehorse. We rested up here for a couple of days before heading South to Watson Lake.
