

7/11/2015

LAS VEGAS CONVALESCENT STOP

This year we are using our 4 day stay at Thousand Trails to recuperate from our terrible colds, that seem to be going around, and finally nailed us! What a way to start traveling.

Las Vegas, among other things, is home to Lake Mead and Hoover Dam. Like most of the West, the lake behind the dam is suffering from the drought. The view of the dam shows that the lake is down about 100 feet. They still have to let water out for downstream commitments to LA and Mexico. Note the new bridge around the dam in the background.

The next photo is looking upriver from the dam showing the normal waterline, and how much it is down. The weather here is normal, in the low 100's

Sunday will find us moving on to Zion National Park. We are looking forward to, seeing it after such a long time ago.

Dave & Bonnie

#01