

THE MOTORHOME IS BROKE DOWN JUST LIKE US!

We left the Seaside TT Preserve and ambled down the Oregon coast. This trip has to be one of the most beautiful drives in the country. Highway 101 is narrow and twists and turns past spectacular viewpoints! This weekend, being the Labor Day weekend, has throngs of tourists out and about, flooding the towns and making the businesses very happy.

We arrived about 2:00 and checked into the TT South Jetty Preserve. When about to leave the check-in area, a turn of the ignition key produced the dreaded clicking sound.

Jumping the battery was to no avail, so we were dead in the water, right in the entrance to the park with just enough room for incoming traffic to go by. A call to our roadside assistance for a tow truck produced nothing after a 3 hour search by the company. Finally I reached a mechanic who arrived at 7:30 and somehow got under the motor home and jump started the starter. We finally parked on our site and he had us shut it off and try to start again, click click! He made arrangements to come on site tomorrow or the next day and repair it. Life doesn't get any easier with age!
