BIRCH BAY AND BEYOND

The end of our stay at La Conner TT came upon us and we wandered north a few miles to a TT in Birch Bay. It is now a small community of 9,000 or so, boosted to 14,000 in the summer. It has a wonderful view of the bay, as pictured above. It is a shallow bay and when the tide goes out there is a lot of area for walking and clamming. Lots of folks with shovels and buckets to be seen.

From Birch Bay we drove to Sumas, WA and crossed over into Canada. Our destination was Cultus Lake TT. It was packed full with Canadian campers and kids. We could not find a site that we could pick up Direct TV, so after two nights we checked out and drove to Osoyoos, CN for a night at an Indian RV park. The Canadian part of the Okanagan Valley has a lot of vineyards and apple orchards as well as peaches. They have trained certain types of apples to grow on row wires like grapes for easy picking. They never get to be a tree!
