

ALASKA NEWS

June 27, 1996

Volume 2 Issue 4

WHEN YER HOT YER HOT!

Yesterday on the way to Muncho Lake we saw 4-5 Stone Mountain Sheep right on the road.

Today we left about 8:30 AM and took the short drive to Liard Hot Springs.

The road had about 14 miles of gravel sealcoat operation. Man was it dusty in spots. The Honda is covered with dust.

Crossed the only suspension bridge on the Alcan. The scenery was spectac-

THIS IS HOW WE GO TO ALASKA!

THERE WERE LOTS OF RV'S TODAY!

ular today.

We arrived at the Hot Springs early, say about noonish.

We took the half mile walk to check out the springs.

THE BUGS EAT MORE THAN YOU DO!

The hot springs had two pools about a quarter mile apart.

The first one was crystal clear and the second one was milky murky. It was the one that the moose and bear go into. It was cooler. The first one we went into. The water was from 101deg to 129deg. There was cold water on the bottom that one could mix with your hands. We all ate dinner outside with the bugs.

TOMORROW IS WATSON LAKE