VALDEZ ACCEPTS US CALIFORNIANS!

We left a camp called Dry Creek, An Alaska State Park, about 8:00AM and proceeded down the road to Valdez.

With the exception of a few frost heaves, maybe a hundred, the road was fairly tolerable.

But we have to tell you, the scenery was absolutely stupendous! The road led thru a winding valley with a river and was beneath a towering panorama of snow and glacier capped mountains. At every turn was something awesome. Waterfalls, and vistas one cannot believe.

We stay 2 nights here.

OVER THE BOUNDING MAIN TOMORROW.

Right after we checked in to the Eagle's Rest RV park we signed up for a Glacier cruise of 10 1/2 hours long. We pass by the Columbia glacier as well as others. We get 3 meals on this tour and we get closer to the glaciers than the big cruise ships can.

The town is small but it is packed with tourists in motor homes. Someone here caught a 152 lb Halibut yesterday. Had some good clam chowder today.
