LAZY EDITOR COMBINES 2 DAYS!

Leaving the Blue Lake RV park we headed south on 95 to a turnoff to Spirit Lake and the home of a friend I used to work with, Bill Eastgate.

We spent a lovely day and night there. A true cabin in the woods on 20 acres. We BBQ'd steaks and would you believe, we picked and OD'd on Raspberrys, right off the vine!

Listening to the stories he told about the area, and the people in the area, did not sound like the type of

GOT TO SET YESTERDAY!

THE DISTANCE HOME IS GROWING SHORTER BY THE DAY!

This morning we got up late and got going about 10:00AM. We drove today thru rolling farmland and wheatfields. Following large rivers we camped in a BLM site right on the river at Slate Falls. It should cool down tonight. The country now is very dry and is starting to look rather California like!

Tomorrow we will stop at Riggins and inquire about river Jet Boat rides. If they are reasonable we'll go.

RIFLE SHOTS ALL EVENING, THEY STARTED A CHAINSAW AT 4:30AM JUST TO BUG US!

retirement in Redneck country I would care for.

The people here are very radical in their way of doing things.

GETTING HOTTER!

SAW A BALD EAGLE YESTERDAY AND NOTHING TODAY. WE MIGHT HAVE TO COUNT ROAD KILLS!
